

COMFORT, CONVENIENCE, AND FUNCTIONALITY IN ONE DRY SUIT

Introducing our new expedition paddling dry suit with standby mode

Burnaby, BC – Mustang Survival®, the Canadian brand known for designing and manufacturing technical marine solutions for the most demanding marine environments, introduces the Beacon Dry Suit to the market for 2023. Meet with the Mustang Survival crew in the Canadian Pavilion at stand 01.710.

The Beacon Dry Suit is a truly innovative design in the expedition paddling market. The 'Delta Entry' is a triangular piece of fabric with a 100% waterproof YKK® AQUASEAL® zipper. This groundbreaking design allows the easiest donning in the market, plus it offers a stand-by mode for activities like setting up camp or unloading the vehicle. It offers environmental protection while maintaining airflow and heat management.

The Men's and Women's Beacon Dry Suits are streamlined and lightweight for marine expeditions, whether paddling, sailing or other watersports, and feature a design that provides an exceedingly full range of motion required. Made of rugged MarineSpec BP fabric, a custom design by Mustang Survival to be windproof, waterproof and breathable.

Kenneth Bontje, Apparel and Product Designer of the Beacon Dry Suit, adds: “This is the pinnacle of dry suits for expedition paddling. The easy ‘in and out’ will be a game changer for people with mobility issues, and any user will appreciate the comfort of the stand-by mode for the on-land portions of the trip. This top-of-the-line dry suit provides the ultimate experience of free mobility and functionality in and out of the water allowing the wearer to seamlessly focus on the task at hand.”

The seam tape construction is tested to the highest quality standards of waterproofness and durability, a process Mustang Survival has perfected through decades of experience making dry suits for Military and professional contracts.

First ISO-approved Mustang Survival PFD now available in Europe

Several key products will be showcased on stand 01.710 at METSTRADE. This includes the Minimalist Manual Inflatable Belt Pack, the first flotation product Mustang Survival is releasing on the European market. This inflatable belt pack is incredibly popular in the North American leisure market.

It has a discrete minimalist design for inshore paddles with friends or for skilled swimmers who are looking for extra safety support. Soft exterior fabric and ergonomic construction make this life belt extremely comfortable to wear. Activated with a manual inflation cord, the Minimalist Manual Inflatable Belt Pack has 18.9 lbs of buoyancy when deployed.

New products start to become available March 2023.

International dealers and distributors are encouraged to come and meet with the UK-based team at METS as they seek to collaborate and grow the Mustang Survival brand presence. Product team members from Canada will also be present at the show. You're invited to swing by the sister company Henshaw Inflatables at the stand next door.

###